Giving in Chicago, a study conducted by the Indiana University Lilly Family School of Philanthropy for The Chicago Community Trust, is the first comprehensive study of individual, corporate and foundation giving in the six-county Chicago region. It examines patterns of charitable giving by households and corporations in the region in 2013, and grant making by foundations and public charities in the region for 2012, the latest year for which data are available.

GIVING IN CHICAGO

TOTAL DONATIONS from THE CHICAGO METRO AREA (2013)

$10 BILLION

Households – 71% ($7.1 billion)
Foundation and Grant making Public Charities – 24% ($2.4 billion)
Corporations and Corporate Foundations – 5% ($0.5 billion)

TOTAL DONATIONS from THE CHICAGO METRO AREA to RECIPIENTS in THE REGION (2013)

$6.7 BILLION

Households – 83% ($5.5 billion)
Foundation and Grant making Public Charities – 14% ($0.9 billion)
Corporations and Corporate Foundations – 3% ($0.2 billion)

Approximately 67 percent of the total contributions made by Chicago metro area donors of all types remained in the region, reaching an estimated $6.7 billion.

Strong communities are built on our compassion and readiness to help our neighbors in their time of need. This study is a reflection of how Chicagoans across the region are contributing to make that happen.
INDIVIDUAL GIVING

A large majority — nearly four-fifths, or 78 percent — of charitable dollars donated by Chicago metro area households stayed within the region in 2013.
