Religious Giving: The Bumpy Ride Continues
Giving USA 2013

In 2012, the slow growth of charitable giving mirrored the economy: up 3.5% (1.5% in inflation adjusted dollars). While individual giving was up 3.9% (1.9% in inflation adjusted dollars) individual giving is still 11% less than in 2007. Patrick Rooney, Associate Dean of the Indiana University Lilly Family School of Philanthropy, observed that across America "the average household is still struggling."
